A MODERN AMERICAN BABEL.

Professor Buck, of the University of Chicago, has been investigating the polyglot population of that city, and has published his conclusions in a pamphlet entitled "A Sketch of the Linguistic Conditions of Chicago." He finds that there are fourteen languages besides English spoken by permanent colonies of more than 10,000 persons each. Newspapers appear regularly in ten languages, and church services may be heard in about twenty different tongues. He figures that Chicago is the second largest Bohemian city in the world, the third Swedish, the third Norwegian, the fourth Polish, and the fifth German—New York being fourth in German-speaking people. Besides the permanent colonies, there are smaller bodies ranging from less than a hundred to 7,000 speaking other foreign languages, which bring the total up to some forty different tongues. This condition is claimed to wrest the palm of cosmopolitanism from Constantinople and Cairo and give it to Chicago, which the professor denominates "an unparalleled babel of foreign tongues." The foreign tongues tabulated in the pamphlet, and which are each represented by a substantial number of people, embrace the following:

German, Polish, Swedish, Bohemian, Norwegian, Yiddish, Dutch, Italian, Danish, French, Croatian and Serbian, Slovakian, Lithuanian, Russian, Hungarian, Greek, Friulan, Roumanian, Welsh, Slovenian, Flemish, Chinese, Spanish, Finnish, Scotch Gaelic, Lettish, Arabic, Armenian, Manx, Icelandic, Albanian, Bulgarian, Turkish, Japanese, Portuguese, Breton, Esthonian, Basque, Gypsy.

Truly a striking list. It is quite evident that Chicago is receiving its full share of foreign immigration, which has been enormous in the last year. The grand total from all countries in 1902 was 789,289. Italy leads in numbers, Austria-Hungary is second, and Russia third. The total is only second to the banner immigration year of 1882, when 788,992 immigrants landed in the United States. Its character has, however, considerably changed. In the latter year Germany furnished most, and neither Russia nor Austria-Hungary were conspicuous in the list. At present three-fourths of our immigration is from southern and eastern Europe, while the movement from Scandinavia and the British Isles, as well as from Germany, has greatly subsided.

Wrongly Named.

The tubercle is no rose, but a species of oyanth.

Pompey's pillar had no historical connection with Pompey in any way.

Cleopatra's needle was not erected by the Egyptian Queen, nor in her honor.

Whalebone is not bone, and it is said not to possess a single property of bone.

Turkish baths did not originate in Turkey, and are not baths, only heated chambers.

German silver was not invented in Germany, and does not contain a particle of silver.

Black lead is not lead at all, but a compound carbon and a small quantity of iron.

Brazilian grass never grew in Brazil, and is not grass; it is nothing but strips of palmleaf.

Burgundy pitch is not pitch, and does not come from Burgundy; the greater part of it is resin and palm oil.—Science.
